National Capital Bank of Washington Elects Kate Carr and Harry Rauner to Board of Directors

Washington, D.C.—The National Capital Bank of Washington (NCB) announced today that Kathleen (Kate) Walsh Carr and Harold C. (Harry) Rauner will be joining its Board of Directors. Both Kate and Harry are seasoned community bankers, most recently with Cardinal Bank. Prior to retirement Kate was the President of Cardinal’s Washington market and Harry was Regional President in the Fairfax market, following his tenure as President and Chief Executive Officer of The Business Bank.

Each are well-respected in the industry and community and bring with them significant expertise in business development, strategic and tactical planning, as well as regulatory relations and compliance. In addition, both are civic leaders serving as board members for chambers of commerce, business concerns, as well as charitable organizations. Kate is a former chair and board member for the District of Columbia Chamber of Commerce; she served as a member of the Greater Washington Board of Trade, the Board of Washington Trustees for the Federal City Council and a three-year term as Director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond. She is currently chair of the Chevy Chase Land Company. Harry, a graduate and prominent alumnus of George Mason University, serves on the Dean’s Council for its School of Business. He is a former director of the Reston Chamber of Commerce, The Potomac Conservancy and The Rotary Club of Dunn Loring/Merrifield. He is also a recipient of the Lifetime Achievement Award from the Dulles Chamber of Commerce.

“Kate and Harry’s commercial banking experience, reputation in the industry and deep roots in the D.C. community are a wonderful complement to NCB’s Board of Directors. Their business acumen, leadership and community engagement align with the values of our company,” said Randy Anderson, President and CEO of National Capital Bank. “Both will provide key resources as the Bank executes its strategic plan for growth in the Washington Metro market.”

The National Capital Bank of Washington was founded in 1889 and is Washington’s Oldest Bank. NCB is headquartered on Capitol Hill with a second branch located in Friendship Heights, as well as residential mortgage and commercial lending offices and a wealth management services division. From personal checking accounts and sophisticated treasury management solutions for businesses, to robust online and mobile banking and remote deposit capture, merchant processing and top-rated personal service, NCB is well-positioned to serve the banking needs of those in our community.
