National Capital Bank of Washington Hires Kathryn Speakman as Commercial Loan Officer

Washington, D.C.—The National Capital Bank of Washington (NCB) announced today that Kathryn Speakman has joined the Bank as Vice President, Commercial Lending, with a focus on C&I and Commercial Real Estate.

Ms. Speakman joins NCB's outstanding team of local lenders, bringing with her thirty years of banking and commercial lending experience in the Washington, D.C. region. She will be responsible for developing and expanding commercial relationships throughout the thriving business community in and around Washington.

Richard B. (Randy) Anderson, Jr. President and Chief Executive Officer said "With Kathy's depth of experience and focus on relationship banking, she will further strengthen NCB's reputation for delivering exceptional service, industry expertise and local decision making to support the growing business community in our market."

A longtime resident of the Washington, D.C. metro area, Speakman is a graduate of American University's Kogod School of Business, a member and former board member of Leadership Greater Washington and is actively involved in the YMCA of Metropolitan Washington, currently serving as Vice-Chairman of the Board.

The National Capital Bank of Washington was founded in 1889 and is Washington's Oldest Bank. NCB is headquartered on Capitol Hill with a second branch located in Friendship Heights, as well as a residential mortgage office and a wealth management services office. The Bank trades under the symbol NACB. For more information about NCB, visit www.nationalcapitalbank.com
